

Athens, November 2nd 2020

Announcement

We would like to inform you that according to the latest decisions regarding the evolution of the pandemic, the lectures will be conducted online from Monday, November 9, 2020.

Please note that the duration of the lectures will be three hours and start and end times will be according to the original schedule.

There will be no lectures on the week of November 2nd, as the University will remain closed in protest for the violent attack on the Rector Prof. Bourantonis that took place on Thursday October 29, 2020.